It contains interesting reading matter; nearly 75 maps; a Time Indicator, illustrating by 25 dials, the difference between New-York, London (Enz.), San Francisco (Cal.), Trainity Bay, Valentia Bay, and all the principal cities in the United States. There are very few undertake a Western or Southern tour before purchasing a copy of Santilway Guider, to enable them to select their route previous to commencing APPLETON'S RAILWAY GUIDE, to enable them to select their route previous to commending a journey. From present indications, the time is not far distact, when every intelligent traveler will consider it just as necessary to purchase a copy of the Guide previous to entering the cars. Independent of its importance as a Railway Guide, as A TRAVELER'S COMPANION it is unequaled. It gives an account of Railways and their progress, from mouth to month; valuable inventions, anecdotes, and incidents of travel; thereby, not only being an instructive and useful work, but also an amusing traveling companion.

VIII. IMPORTANT HINTS TO TRAVELERS in reference to

The first volume of this new and important series of historical works is now ready. It embraces the history of

THE EMPIRE OF AUSTRIA,

ITS RISEAND PRESENT POWER.

By John S. C. Arrott.

One volume, crown 8200, cloth. Price $150.

This volume appears very opportunely, for Austria is just new a most prominent actor among the great nations of the world, and is the center of universal interest. Mr. Abbott has adopted a plan which! enables him to give her most eventful and tragical history in a peculiarly attractive manner. He presents a historical biography of the reigning dynasty, including, necessarily, the full and connected history of the empire, but possessing, also, the perconal interest of blography.

"In this day of generalizing and grouping in literature, it is singular that no author before Mr. Abbott has thought of using the rich and romantic materials easily accessible for a series of histories of the monarchies of Europe. The outline of each is blocked out in the histories of the several kingdoms, and Carlyle, in his brilliant sketches accompanying the history and of his Presian heroes, has shown us how to interweave much of the wild and picturesque from remote periods with the story already familiar. The writer of this volume had taken a bird's eye view of the European dynasties in the histories of Bonaparte and the French Revolution. He begins the present series of "Monarchies" with a memoir of Austria, treating the subject as if he were writing the life of an individual, and in a figure personifying the power whose birth, growth, strife with eposition and decay, he undertakes to describe.

"There is much of the strange and wonderful in the history of Amstria. The stringles of Rodolph of Hapsburg, and the formation of the nucleus of the Europe in the latter part of the thirteenth century, introduce to our view the elements at work during the reign of chivalry for the subjugation of brute force to intellect. The strife with the Turks through centuries succeeding served to contribute to the agrandizem Candas.

VIII. IMPORTANT HINTS TO TRAVELERS in reference to purchasing tickets, baggage, backs, botels, &c.

IX. INNA TO TELEGRAPH STATIONS in connection with railways, and a new and important feature to every business man. By merely glancing at the index, persons can inform themselves not only where a station is situated, but upon what railway.

X. INDEX TO REARLY 2,000 of the principal towns, villages and cities in connection with railways throughout the United States and Canadas.

XI. A GARRITER ONE THE STATES STATES, arranged under the separate map of railways, giving an account of the most important cities, villages, &c., through which the railways pass. In reference to the accuracy of APPLETON'S GUIDE, the attention of the traveling community is called to the following extract from a letter to The Saurday Evening Gasetter.

Within the past six months business or pleasure has called me into one half of the States of the Union, and over several thousand miles of railroad; and I have never arrived at a depot ten minutes late, not lost a connection—thanks to my pocket companion, APPLETON'S RAILWAY GUIDE—a work corrected and published semi-monthly, which is a model of accuracy, and may be relied upon implicitly. A study of its connects lass beginded many miles of their tediounness, while the information it imparts reflects the greatest credit on the publishers.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

From The N. Y. Herald.

information it impairs reflects the greatest credit on the publishers."

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

"This admirable compilation is increasing so rapidly in circulation that in this respect it promises soon to outrival the English Bradshaw. In the care with which the tables are put together, and in the extent and variety of the information which it conveys, it, however, has no equal."

"As the traveling season will soon commence, this comprehensive guide will now be called into requisition. Those who buy it once will never afterward be written the."

From The Boston Journal.

"We should as soon think of starting on our journey without a valles as to go on our journey without the latest edition of this useful and entertaining hand hook."

"This is decidedly the best guide in the world—far ahead of Bradshaw's English work. It is illustrated by over sixty maps, and contains over two hundred pages. It is a work that should be placed in the hands of every man, woman and child in the United States."

"This is a most admirably arranged traveler's guide, and we could be recommended.

United States.

"This is a most admirably arranged traveler's guide, and we cordially recommend it to the public. It is the most complete thing of the kind ever published in this or any other country."

"Appleton's Railway Guide is, without exception, the most complete work of the kind ever published. Mr G. F. Thamas, the original projector and compiler of the Guide, was for many years a resident of our city, and is well known to many of our citizens as peculiarly competent for a work of this kind."

"Appleton's Railway Guide, which makes its monthly appearance, has become as much of a necessity in America as Bradsraw is in England or on the Continent, while the style puts to shame that diapy publication."

APPLETON'S ILLUSTRATED RAILWAY GUIDE Is, without any exception, the cheapent book ever published. It contains nearly 300 pages, nearly 70 maps, a variety of meriliand entertaining matter, and is sold at the low price of Twanty-rive Cents Per Cory.

Lady Morgan has addressed the following lines to The Athenant in reply to a reference to her are in the review of her recent "Diary." She is some 70 years old: TO MY REVIEWER.

My life is not dated by years,
For Time has drawn lightly his plow,
And they say scarce a furrow appears
To reveal what I ne'er will avow. Till the spirit is quenched, still a glow Will fall o'er the dream of my days, And brighten the hours as they flow

For as long as we feel we enjoy;
The heart sets all dates at defiance,
And, forgetful of tife's last alloy,
With Time makes a holy alliance.

Then talk not to me of "my age."
I appeal from the phrase to the fact
That I'm told, in your own brilliant page,
I'm still young in fine, facey and tack.

THE LOSING AND TAKING OF MANSOUL;
Of, Luctures on the Hoty War.
By the Rev. A. S. Patton, A. M.
1 to 1, Thue, Price S. I.

This is a work that has long been needed. Bunyan's other great allegory has been the basis of a number of popular and useful volumes of lectures, but this is the first successful attempt to unfold the wonderful teachings of the Holy War.
It is finely illustrated with the Holy War.
It is finely illustrated with the Holy War.
It is finely illustrated with the Holy War.
Listenter First—Mansoul taken by the Enemy, or Man in his frimal innecesses and Fall.
Lecture Second—A Plan Devised for the Recovery of Mansoul, or the Great Redemption.
Lecture Third—Mansoul Essigned, or Earnest and Effective Preaching.
Lecture Fourth—Mansoul Assaulted, or the Lord Working
